Dear Mr. Waltman

I should have written to you when first I came to New York if I had not been so busy every hour. I am working very hard now but I am at home here
every Sunday after

Four o'clock. I enclose a card. Do come and see me. As soon as my work leaves me
a few hours I must come to your studio
I look forward with the greatest interest
to seeing you
Yours sincerely
James Jackson Bennett
